Lt. Gen. Raymond V. Mason, the Army's Deputy Chief of Staff, G-4, recognized nine Vietnam Veterans who currently work in the Army G-4.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30, 2013 – The afternoon in the Pentagon auditorium on Aug. 28 was a time for reflection on a war that spanned 10 years and cost the country the lives of more than 58,000 young men and women. It was also an occasion to honor and thank nine Vietnam War Veterans who'd served a total of 14 tours in-country and 225 years in uniform. Kicking off the Army's first event commemorating the 50th anniversary of the conflict, Army Lt. Gen. Raymond V. Mason, deputy chief of staff for logistics, opened the ceremony recalling personal memories as well as his broader experiences as a young American citizen.

"I was a young Army brat and it was difficult for me to watch my dad come back after his third tour in Vietnam and not get treated appropriately, at least in my mind," Mason said. "I was just a pretty young guy at that time, but I could feel that it wasn't right. It struck me, and I knew if I ever had the opportunity to make that right I would do the best I could.

"Today, we are recognizing nine of our patriots and their families who stood up to the test of their generation and their decade," he continued. "I think it's well overdue. Nothing is more important than pausing and reflecting on the sacrifices of what these great men and women did and those who gave their last full measure."

By Christmas of 1965, nearly 200,000 servicemembers were in Vietnam. At war's end, April 30, 1975, nearly three million Americans had been on the ground, in the air and on the rivers of Vietnam. More than 58,000 Americans lost their lives.

On Memorial Day 2012, a ceremony was held in Washington, D.C. to symbolize the beginning of our nation's attempt to right a wrong that occurred more than 50 years ago. It took place at one of the most sacred places on the National Mall - The Vietnam Veterans Memorial - known to most simply as "The Wall."

The goal is to get more than 10,000 corporations, civic groups as well as government and community organizations to join as partners and help sponsor hometown events to honor Vietnam Veterans, their families and those who were prisoners of war and missing in action.

To date, 4,941 commemorative partners have signed on, including Army logistics, or G-4, which joined this spring.

Following Mason's remarks, Army Vice Chief of Staff Gen. John F. Campbell thanked him and his team for leading the way to celebrate the contributions of Vietnam Veterans.

The son of an Air Force senior master sergeant, Campbell told of his years growing up on military bases around the world before attending West Point, and then recalled his first interaction with Vietnam Veterans while a lieutenant in Germany.

"Both the battalion commanders were Vietnam Veterans ... all the platoon sergeants, all the first sergeants, all the company commanders were Vietnam Veterans," Campbell said. The vets, he said, instilled in him their hard-fought lessons learned from Vietnam and wanted to make sure the young lieutenants and soldiers wouldn't make the same mistakes they had.

Retired Army Lt. Gen. Claude "Mick" Kicklighter serves as director of the U.S. Vietnam War Commemoration. During the Pentagon event, he previewed the time line of plans for honoring Vietnam Veterans across the country over the next few years.

"Veterans of Valor," a 30-minute documentary with the nine honorees recalling humorous and somber anecdotes of their war experiences and interspersed with still photographs of themselves in Vietnam was also premiered.

You may be a Commemorative Partner, now help by telling others how they can sign up

It costs nothing to become a Commemorative Partner! Many groups are already honoring veterans at such events as Memorial Day parades and Veterans Day activities. We ask Partners to simply consider specifically highlighting those who served during the Vietnam War Era! Truly, it is as simple as that!

The Commemorative Partner Program is designed for federal, state and local communities, veterans' organizations and other nongovernmental organizations to assist a grateful nation in thanking and honoring our Vietnam Veterans and their families as directed by Congress through Public Law Section 110-181 SEC.589.

You might consider having your office, church, or social organization become a partner. To find out more, visit: www.VietnamWar50th.com/commemorative\_partners/.

Organizations need to submit an application and a signed Statement of Understanding. The process takes no longer than 30 days.

Partners will be informed through electronic notifications. Once approved as a Commemorative Partner, the Commemoration Program will provide organizations with a starter kit composed of materials for developing and implementing their programs. Commemorative Partners must commit to conduct two events each year from 2015-2017.

The program began in October 2012, with the goal of attaining 5,000 partners by 2014. We are on track and currently have 4,941 Commemorative Partners signed up. We are asking for your help to recruit more communities and organizations all across the United States of America.

When you become a partner, we will add you to our list located on our website and possibly link to your organization's website. You can see a current list of our Commemorative Partners, visit: <http://bit.ly/14nrgxQ>.

If you have any other questions or require some assistance, please contact Thomas Graft at 703-697-4874, or email Thomas.O.Graft.ctr@mail.mil.

Mrs. Martha West, Kopperl Independent School District kindergarten teacher in Waco, Texas holds her school's Commemorative Partner flag. Mrs. West is joined by Alfred West, Special Forces Vietnam Veteran, and Congressman Bill Flores, U.S. Congressional District 17.

Vietnam War News Correspondent Joe Galloway Records Vietnam Veteran's Experiences

"People don't understand that it takes courage to use the rifle, but sometimes it takes even more courage to be able to fight with just our minds and to not give in. We found that out living in that POW camp," said U.S. Army Pfc. David Harker, former Vietnam War POW.

The United States of America Vietnam War Commemoration touches many aspects of Vietnam veterans' lives. More than nine million service members fought and sacrificed during America's involvement in the War. Their experiences are compelling, real and a part of American history. The VWC's History and Education Branch headed by Mark Franklin has partnered with renowned Vietnam War correspondent, Joe Galloway to help capture the Oral Histories of Vietnam Veterans. The H&E team is actively engaged developing a process to collect and produce a series of Vietnam Veteran oral histories.

These oral histories represent an opportunity to recognize the service of scores of Vietnam Veterans, tell meaningful stories of significance, and help inform millions of Americans about the sacrifice endured and valor exhibited by so many.

The mission of the VWC is to assist our nation in thanking and honoring its Vietnam War Veterans and their families, the fallen, the wounded, those who were held as Prisoners of War, tell the story about their service and that period of our nation's history.

Once launched, the Oral History Program will include all ranks, all services and all experiences to the extent possible. Upon completion these video oral histories will be made available for viewing on the Vietnam War Commemoration's website and eventually distributed via DVDs to middle and high schools across the country for use in the classroom. The series of interviews will also be shared with the Library of Congress Veterans History Project. Veterans interested in sharing their experiences and letting their historical voices be heard in support of the oral history project should stay tuned for upcoming announcements on how to participate.

Who better to tell the story of the Vietnam War, than the Vietnam Veterans themselves. The Vietnam Veteran's personal experiences are the stories that truly capture the legacy of the Vietnam Veteran.
